Competent Design of an Essay on Literature, a Sample of Work

Creative written work in which a student expresses his thoughts on a particular topic is called an essay. An essay can be considered a model for assessing knowledge both in the English language and in literature, therefore, during the test, not only the ability to competently express one's opinion, but also the correctness of the design will be assessed.

Now, as in any other written work, there are a number of requirements for the correct design, which will be strictly observed by write my papers writers. There are so many of them that the student will easily get confused by this large number of rules. But from any set of requirements, the main one can always be distinguished.

Primary requirements

Any essay consists of three parts. Any written work should consist of three semantic parts: introduction, main part, conclusion. Each of them plays a very important role in the composition. The purpose of the work and its brief description are formulated in the introduction. The main part already fully reveals the topic and idea. In conclusion, the student writes a short conclusion about the work done.

On the right side of the page, write the epigraph and do not enclose it in quotation marks. It briefly describes the author's intention and is optional for your composition. But if you edit paper online correctly and beautifully, it will only improve your composition. It is necessary to observe the structure of the essay, namely, do not forget about the title page, the detailed work plan, the essay itself and the list of used literature.

The plan is written immediately after the epigraph in the middle of the page. A full stop should be put after the word "plan". The plan, like the essay, consists of three semantic parts, which are numbered in Roman numerals. All statements and quotes from other researchers used in the work must be indicated by footnotes. You cannot rewrite pages from other works, thereby assigning them to yourself.

For this, it is necessary to make footnotes, and also to be guided by <https://writemypapers.company/report-writing/> and the rules of punctuation of the English language when making the quotes themselves. The essay is submitted in printed form in compliance with all norms: font size - 14, line spacing - 1.5, font - Times New Roman.
